THANKSGIVING.

Religion and Amusement Offering Their Attractions to Their Devotees.

the People of Washington Wil Spend the National Holiday, and How.

Thanksgiving is now the generous, genial forgrunner of merry Christmas, and rapidly becoming as universally observed in this country. And yet it was instituted by the stern old witch burning, papist hating, Puritan colonists as a protest against and a substitute for the Roman Catholic Christmas. With all their straight laced ways, and their bitter abhorrence of Catholic practices and festivals, the Puritans could not altogether lay aside their recollection of the roast beef and pleasant diversions of mother England, and, though the spirit and practices that now govern the observance of Thanks-giving are widely different from the solemn methods of the founders of the holiday, their descendants are bound to be thankful that they now and then gave way to the softer emotions, for thereby we gained what is truly our only national holiday. There was little of the modern spirit festival about the observance of the day in the times of Gov. Bradford and the grim worthies who succeeded him, but no doubt the young folks then looked forward to its coming with eager log and considered its feature and solemn. joy, and considered its feasting and solemn pranks an almost sinfully jolly relaxation of the iron-bound rules that ordinarily con-

the fron-bound rules that ordinarily controlled their daily walk.

With laspe of years and the gentler spirit that now makes our people glad to have a holiday, Thanksgiving has overflowed the bounds of New England, spread over the middle states, gone west, climbed the Rocky mountains, and made itself at home up and mountains, and made itself at home up and down the Pacific coast, and now, with its emblems to turkey and good cheer to the fore, is year by year extending its peaceful conquest of the south. From a local feast day it has become truly nationalized, and few are the communities in this broad land that will fail to day to observe its gentle Christian rites.

The day will be observed in Washington with the ceremoules peculiarly appropriate. The religious cast predominates, as naturally it would in a city which has a larger proportion of Christian inhabitants than any other tion of Christian inhabitants than any other in the country. But all classes of people are provided for in the general thanksgiving of the day.

Two notable parades will occur during the day—the Continental Guards, with their military escort, in the morning at 10 o'clock, and the firemen's parade at 1:15 p. m. The line of march of the latter was given in yesterday's REPUBLICAN, and that of the former, as corrected is as follows:

terday's REPUBLICAN, and that of the former, as corrected, is as follows:

The line will form on E street, the right resting on Seventh, and they will march down Seventh to Pennsylvania avenue; along Pennsylvania avenue to Eighteenth street; along Eighteenth to I; down I to Fourteenth, down Fourteenth to F; down F to Seventh; thence to Massachusett avenue; down Massachusetts to Third street; thence to Pennsylvania avenue; down Pennsylvania avenue; down Pennsylvania avenue; down Pennsylvania avenue; to chusetts to Third street; thence to Pennsylvania avenue; down Pennsylvania avenue to Ninth street; thence up Ninth street to the Masonic temple. The parade will be formed into two divisions. The first, headed by the Marine band, will consist of the Light Infantry, the Union Veteran corps, Capt. Thomason, and the Union Veteran Cadets. The second division will be headed by the 2d artillery band, and consist of the National Rifles, the Rifles' Cadets, the 1st company Union Veterans, the Corcoran Cadets, the Gonzaga Cadets, drum corps, and the Washington Continentals.

MINER NORMAL SCHOOL. The Quarterly Exercises Presented Vester day by the Class.

The first quarterly exercises of the Miner Normal school took place yesterday at the Miner building, commencing at 9:30 a. m. and continuing until 12:30 p. m. The room oc-cupied by the school was handsomely decorated. The wall were adorned by excellent likenesses of some of America,s most prominent statesmen and poets, also one of Miss Myrtilla Miner, the lady through whose philanthropic efforts the school was made possible. The windows were richly freighted with choice exotics. Among those present were Gen. Eaton, commissioner of education, Hon Fred Douglass, Supt. Cook, Supervising Principal H. P. Montgomery, and ex-Trustee Henry Johnson The exercises were of a character to test the capacity of the pupils to comprehend intelligently the requirements for a teachers position, and the readiness shown by them in answering was creditable alike to pupils and teacher. The teacher, Miss Lucy E. Moten, was highly complimented by Commissioner Eaton and others for the practical manner exhibited by nent statesmen and poets, also one of Miss others for the practical manner exhibited by the young ladies in the training school; also upon the general success attending the exercises.

The following young ladies constitute the class: Susie Robinson. Elizabeth Hunter. Julie Pierre, Fannie Ware, Alberta Lewis, Isetta Merriman, Grace Shimm, Adele Hughes, Hattie Hebbron, Josephine Walker, Georgie Simpson, Louisa Early, Mary Curtis, and Catherine Davis. The music was conducted by Mr. Henry Grant, music teacher.
